FASHION IS TOO EXACTING

Men, Too, Are Revolting Against the Frequent and Hideous Changes in Styles.

At last the human worm is turning in revolt against the too extreme demands of fashion. Even the ladies are growing restive under the exactions, and as for the men a sample of the way many of them feel is given in the following protest sent by M. N. S. to the Springfield Republican and published in that newspaper: "Hurrah for the stand against the proposed fooliah changes in styles for men, and the 'darn please' policy! I for one am ready for the question. The whole matter of dress is today no end foolish and disgusting. The only argument that can be presented in favor of these frequent and hideous changes is one that is familiarly met with. 'If it were not for the changes in styles, Quarter armies of men and women in the dry goods and tailoring business would tota 1, 2, eld nw be without an occupation.' This is 80 N1-2 nw be used with effect on nearly all the Ne questions of the day if the large questions of the day, if that is what we are here for—to make business. If man will strike the first blow—make a stand and show her how it could be maintained—lovely woman of the sensible type will not be also of the sensible type will not be slow Se in joining the battle cry of freedom.' Much power to man's elbow!" Lots 6, 7, e1-2, sw 6

MUSEUM OF SPEECH.

One of the latest ideas in Paris is the establishment of a vocal library, already being installed in the Bibliotheque Nationale, which is to consist of a collection of graphophone records of words spoken or sung by great orators, singers and actors. The library will be equipped with abundant instruments for transmission of the recorded sounds to the ears of visitors. Thus in the future the student-of the life of some great man, intending, perhaps, to become his biographer, may receive aid by the accents of his voice long after he has passed away. HOIST.

"I am sorry to be critical, my dear," said Mr. Lambkin, "but this pie is not the kind that mother used to make not by a long shot."

"It's too bad, Henry," said Mrs. Irregular tract Lambkin, amiably. "I don't know what to do about it. Perhaps you'd better ring her up on the phone and 14 tell her. She sent it over this after-
